Manuscript Submission and Information for Authors

The Asian Journal of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery is the official publication of the Asian Association of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons (Asian AOMS). The Journal is a peer-reviewed, quarterly journal, circulated to all members of the Asian AOMS. The Journal is indexed in EMBASE/Excerpta Medica.

The Journal publishes original research papers, review articles, surgical techniques, clinical observations, case reports, book reviews, and letters to the editor, in subjects relating to clinical practice and research into oral and maxillofacial surgery. Manuscripts are welcomed and should be sent to: Editor-in-Chief, Asian Journal of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery, Department of Oral & Maxillofacial Surgery, The University of Hong Kong, 2/F, Prince Philip Dental Hospital, 34 Hospital Road, Hong Kong, E-mail: nsamman@hkucc.hku.hk

Manuscript Submission
Manuscripts are accepted on the condition that they are submitted solely to the Journal, have not been previously published elsewhere, either in print or electronic format, and are not under consideration by another publication or electronic medium. Material submitted should adhere to the stated instructions and format. Manuscripts should be word-processed and submitted on a 3.5" floppy disk compatible with an IBM or Macintosh computer or by e-mail. Computer disks should be labelled with the manuscript number; name of first author; manuscript title; computer program; and file name. Three hard copies of the manuscript (complete with tables and figures) should also be provided.

Figures and tables should be supplied as separate files. Once a paper has been accepted, the author will be requested to supply hard copies of any photographs.

Ethics
Typescripts that contain the results of human and/or animal studies will only be accepted for publication if it is made clear that a high standard of ethics was applied in carrying out the investigations. In the case of invasive studies in humans, manuscripts should include a statement that the research protocol was approved by the local ethics committee.

Editorial Processing
Papers are accepted for publication on the understanding that the manuscript has not been submitted simultaneously to another journal, has been read and approved by all authors, and that the work has not been published before. Each paper submitted for publication will be assessed by peer review. The Editorial Board will select reviewers with relevant experience. The final publication decision lies with the Editorial Board.

Accepted manuscripts will be copy edited according to the Journal style and returned to the author for approval prior to publication. Authors are responsible for all statements made in their work, including changes made by the copy editor. Any opinions expressed or policies advocated do not necessarily reflect the opinions and policies of the Editors.

Manuscripts submitted to the Journal must be accompanied by signed statements on authorship responsibility, financial disclosure, copyright transfer, and acknowledgements. Each of the statements must be read and signed by all authors. Forms are available from the Editorial Office.

Submitted manuscripts must list the full names, qualifications and affiliations of all authors, plus the full contact details of the corresponding author. Research or project support should be stated. The corresponding author is responsible for obtaining written permission to use any copyrighted text or illustrations. Conflicts of interest should be stated.

Manuscript Presentation
Text
Manuscripts submitted to the Journal should be written in English, with British spelling, in line with the Journal style. Arabic numerals should be used for all numbers, including designators and units of measure. Système International (SI) measurements should be used, except when ‘dual report’ is indicated, and normal ranges included where appropriate. Generic drug names should be used. Abbreviations should be avoided in the title or abstract and their use in the text limited. Standard abbreviations should be defined on first mention in the text. Authors should refer to the Uniform requirements for manuscripts submitted to biomedical journals for guidance on style.

Papers should be set out as follows, with each section beginning on a separate sheet: title page, abstract, text, acknowledgements, references, tables, captions to illustrations. The title page should give the following information: title of the article, full name of each author.
plus the 2 highest qualifications, name and address of the department or institution to which the work should be attributed, name, address, telephone, fax number, and e-mail address of the author responsible for correspondence and to whom requests for reprints should be sent, and sources of support in the form of grants. If the title is longer than 40 characters, a running title should be included.

The abstract should be concise (no more than 250 words), summarising the objectives, patients and methods, results, and conclusions. Structured abstracts should be provided for clinical observations, original research, review articles, and surgical techniques. Unstructured abstracts should be provided for case reports. Book reviews, and letters to the editor do not require abstracts. Authors should provide up to 5 key words taken from Index Medicus.

Figures and Tables

All illustrations are considered to be figures, and each graph, drawing, or photograph should be numbered in sequence with Arabic numerals. Tables and figures should be numbered consecutively in the order of their first citation in the text and a brief title supplied for each. All abbreviations should be defined in the footnotes, in alphabetical order, using the following symbols: *, †, ‡, §, ¶, , ††, ‡‡, …. Statistical measures of variations should be identified in the column headings. Three complete sets of illustrations are required for all figures, and should be camera-ready.
Letters, numbers, and symbols should be clear. Each figure should be identified clearly on the back, stating the number, name of first author, short form of title, and orientation. Photomicrographs must indicate magnification and stain used. Photographs of persons where the subject is identifiable must be accompanied by written permission from the subject to use the photograph. If consent has not been obtained and recognisable features may appear, the illustration will be retouched or cropped to mask or remove the eyes or otherwise render the individual ‘unrecognisable’.

References

References should be numbered in the order they appear in the text. References should follow the Vancouver style and should appear in the text, tables, and legends as Arabic numerals. Journal titles should be abbreviated in accordance with Index Medicus. All authors and/or editors in the cited reference must be listed. The following are examples of reference style:

1. Standard journal article

2. Supplement

3. Article not in English

4. Books and other monographs

The accuracy of references is the responsibility of the authors.

Reprints

Reprints can be obtained using the reprint order form available from the Editorial Office.
